

HOT-HEADED WOMEN DEFY THE MILITIA SOLDIERS ARE UNABLE TO COPE WITH AMAZONS.

Dramatic Scene At Lattimer—Mrs. Sipki At the Head of a Band of Women, Holds At Bay an Armed Battalion of the 13th Regiment—The Springfield Conference.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Peter Sipki, armed with a lath sword, put herself at the head of fifty "amazons of the mines" Monday morning at Lattimer and laughed to scorn Col. Mattes and his Thirteenth Pennsylvania regiment. The Hungarian women would not budge an inch when a galling gun was trained on them and the artillerymen were all ready for the word "Fire." They shouted in derision when they saw the militiamen load their rifles with ball cartridges and fix bayonets for a charge. And when the command "Ready!" was given and the click of rifle hammers ran down the battalion front the amazons danced a jig in unison and invited Col. Mattes to give the word "Fire!"

For an hour the troops were held at bay by a handful of women, unarmed, helpless and famine-faint. In vain the officers cried: "Forward, march!" The soldiers quailed before the deadly gleam in the savage eyes of the Hungarian women. They dared not to advance, armed though they were, to give battle to the amazons.

Finally Major Whitney decided to press forward. Captain McCausland was placed in charge of the outpost and Captain Fellows headed the squad against the women. Mrs. Sipki defied them until the last. Seeing that she could do nothing else, she raised her little sword aloft and in a dramatic manner turned several evolutions on her toes and gave the command to the women to start for home.

Sunday night the word went out among the foreigners that there would be no work, but for all that enough men assembled at the washeries and breakers to start up. Everything was going nicely until 9 o'clock, when the body of fifty women outwitted the detectives and started in to drive the men from the washeries and trippings.

The question of restoring peace and tranquility in strike districts of the Lehigh coal field becomes more complex with each passing day. Sunday the outlook was bright; now the men who have been following the events of the campaign are seriously questioning where it will end.

From the turbulent Honeybrook district hostilities have been transferred to the Lattimer and Eckley side, and from a victory gained by an advance in wages there is now grave danger of the concession being rescinded because the other operators will not join.

The Honeybrook district was the first place where a strike was declared. Monday the men went back to work after getting a small advance. In anticipation of trouble, eight companies of the Eighth regiment were detailed to tour the district at an early hour.

They carried with them galling guns, ammunition wagons and all the accoutrements of war. The mines resumed with a full complement of men.

At Eckley the women came out in such force as to intimidate the men who desired to work, and two companies, C and D, of the Fourth regiment, under Captain Smith, were sent to the scene post haste. They soon dispersed the mob.

SPRINGFIELD MINE CONFERENCE.

Indications That an Agreement Will Be Reached in Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—In response to a call issued by President James M. Carson and Secretary W. D. Ryan, a delegate meeting of the United Mine-Workers of Illinois was held here Monday for the purpose of acting upon the readjustment of the scale to accord with the price fixed for mining at the recent national convention at Columbus. The delegates now here, representing almost every mining district in the state, have invited the operators to meet with them for a final disposition of the coal-mining strike in Illinois.

State President Carson, after convening the meeting, stated that three operators from southern Illinois and one from Springfield—Mr. Vogey of Staunton and Mr. Smith of Breese—were present and would confer with the delegates. They proposed making a settlement upon the old 65-cent basis, and this proposition would be made by them to the convention. A committee will prepare a scale which will be presented to the convention today and which will be made the basis of a final settlement if ratified by the convention.

State President Carson advises conservatism and as near a conformity to the Columbus scale as can be arrived at without doing injustice to the Illinois coal miners. It is believed that a scale will be formulated that will prove satisfactory to miners and operators and the present strike declared off and the men ordered returned to work.

WOODFORD WANTS CUBAN WAR ENDED GENERAL WOODFORD SPEAKS PLAINLY TO SPAIN.

Our Commerce Is Injured—United States Minister Credited With Making a Strong Presentation of the Case—State Department Modifies Foreign Report.

Paris, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from San Sebastian to the Temps of this city says that in his interview with the duke of Tetuan, Spanish minister for foreign affairs, the United States minister to Spain, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, did not present any claim for indemnity, but framed the interview to a moderate phrase in the statement of the great injuries commerce and industry had suffered in the United States through the prolongation of the Cuban war. Gen. Woodford is said to have added that Secretary Sherman had desired him to declare to the Spanish government that it was evidently impossible for Spain to end the rebellion in a reasonable time, and further, that if the war was continued Cuba would be devastated and of no utility to Spain or to the Cubans.

In conclusion, the United States minister is reported to have insisted coarsely but firmly upon the necessity of terminating the war, declaring that if it was not terminated by the end of October the United States would feel justified in taking measures to secure the independence of Cuba.

The duke of Tetuan, according to the dispatch to the Temps, while protesting against alleged American "pretensions," said he would reply officially to the United States minister when the Spanish court returns to Madrid.

WASHINGTON ADVICES.
Official Account of Gen. Woodford's Interview with Tetuan.
Washington, Sept. 21.—It can be stated in reference to the Paris publication purporting to give the substance of Gen. Woodford's communication to the duke of Tetuan that there has been a misapprehension on the part of the Temps' correspondent on several important points, notably in respect to an ultimatum and the setting of a time limit for the conclusion of the war. Instead of fixing the end of October next as the date for the termination of the war, that particular date was mentioned as the time when the Spanish court would return to Madrid from San Sebastian, and when consequently it might be in order to return an answer to the latest representations of the United States government through Mr. Woodford. It is declared at the state department that while Mr. Woodford did, according to the original idea of his instructions, set out the deep inwitnessing a cessation of the deplorable conflict in Cuba, he did not deliver an ultimatum, but simply made a statement of our deep interest in a settlement of the Cuban war as a reasonable explanation for intervening in any manner at this time.

Mr. Woodford's telegram regarding his conference with the duke of Tetuan is now before President McKinley.

Maintain Secrecy at Madrid.
Madrid, Sept. 21.—In official circles here the greatest secrecy is maintained regarding the United States ultimatum, which is looked upon as bound to cause a great sensation in Europe and to have the greatest consequences for Spain. While not intending it, it is believed the action of the United States has greatly facilitated a solution of the ministerial crisis and that there will be a reorganization of the conservatives under Gen. Azcarraza, the premier, and Don Francisco Silveira, the leader of the dissident conservatives.

Anxiety in Court Circles.
London, Sept. 21.—A dispatch to the Standard from San Francisco says: "The government will take its time to reply to United States Minister Woodford, and will probably lay the case before the European powers in the shape of an exhaustive exposition of the whole matter. But last year the foreign office ascertained that the sympathies of the powers were not likely to go beyond platonic censure of the conduct of the United States. Much anxiety is noticeable in court and official circles."

McKenna's Opinion Due Today.
Washington, Sept. 20.—It is believed by many who are deeply interested in the subject that the opinion of the attorney-general upon the operation of section 22 of the tariff law will hold that the discriminating duty of 10 per cent applies only to goods purchased in contiguous countries, and not to goods passing in bond through such countries. The opinion is promised today.

WELCOME THE I. O. O. F. Sovereign Body in Session at Springfield, Ill.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—The opening session of the sovereign grand lodge, Independent Order of Odd-Fellows, was held Monday morning in representatives' hall and was introduced with appropriate ceremonies, taking the form of a public reception, in which the hospitalities of the state, city and the grand bodies of Odd-Fellows of Illinois were extended by their proper representatives. Gen. Alfred Orendorff, past grand representative of Illinois, called the meeting to order.

Gov. Tanner welcomed the delegates. He spoke in the highest praise of odd-fellowship and bade the visitors a hearty welcome to the city and state.

LYNCHERS TO ESCAPE.

Gov. Mount Affraid Public Sentiment Will Not Sustain the Law.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 21.—While Gov. Mount, the attorney-general and other representatives of the state are deeply in earnest in their effort to have the men who participated in the Ripley county lynching punished, they have not much faith in the conviction of any one. News from the Ripley county grand jury indicates that indictments will be returned this week, but the authorities foresee how difficult it will be to convict any one. Citizens of the county, who, as a rule, indorse the work of the lynchers, point out that if the men are indicted they will demand a trial by jury, and that, unless public sentiment in the county changes, it will be difficult to find twelve men all of whom will favor conviction. Under the criminal code the state cannot take a change of venue, and so the trials will of necessity take place in the county in which the crime was committed. The governor has determined to send Attorney-General Ketcham to the county to assist in the prosecutions.

The Neue Wiener Journal was confiscated for publishing telegrams as to the occurrence.

The board of health has decided to send an appeal to Governor Foster asking him to supply the board with $25,000 from the surplus fund of the state to assist the board in prosecuting its fight against the fever. Both have been seen by Dr. Guiteras and pronounced yellow fever of a mild type. The two cases previously reported are improving. They are: Henry Reavers, Frank James, Billy Fairfax, Hubbard Bolling, Herman Kamer. Four other miners were seen in the mine before the fire was discovered and have not as yet been accounted for.

The order making the writs permanent will be entered just as soon as the original papers in the case are received from Parkersburg, where the initial action was taken.

'DA MONK AN' DA ORG.'

Chief Hogan Refuses to Allow Itinerant Musicians to Play Here.

Italians with monkeys and hand organs are nuisances in the eyes of the Janesville law. Two copper colored boys from sunny Italy with monkey and hand organ stopped in Janesville yesterday afternoon with the expectation of capturing all the pennies and dimes in town. Before letting loose "da monk" they thought it best to consult Chief Hogan. They talked with the chief and then left town without giving their organ handle a turn.

WALK OWNERS ARE CARELESS.

Loose Planks Around the City Invite Many Damage Suits.

Another sidewalk notice may soon be sent out by the common council. Owners of unimproved suburban property are becoming especially careless. ### The October Atlantic.

The Atlantic Monthly for October completes the fortieth year of the magazine, which was the first to depend definitely upon the contributions of American writers, and which at once became the exponent of American literature. This number, in the variety of its contents, shows a wide sympathy and a firm grasp on contemporary life. The dominant note in it, as to its traditions, is the literary note. The opening article is a notable piece of literary analysis and criticism by Mr. James Lane Allen, who is undoubtedly the most promising and most prominent writer of fiction that we now have. Since this is the first literary essay that Mr. Allen has put forth, and may be interpreted, therefore, to contain his literary creed, it is of more than usual interest. He makes a review of the operation of the two great principles that have governed our fiction, which he calls the feminine principle, that has given us delicacy and refinement; and the masculine principle, which has given us strength, if sometimes coarseness. Mr. Allen makes an eloquent plea for the union of these two principles of composition.

J. W. Baggett, of Oak Grove, Fla., had an attack of the measles, nearly three years ago, and the disease left him with very severe pains in the chest. "I thought I would die," he writes: "but to my great joy, I was saved by Chamberlain's Pain Balm." Pains in the chest nearly always indicate the approach of pneumonia, and by promptly applying this liniment on a flannel cloth, which should be bound on the chest, an attack of pneumonia may be prevented. It is always prompt and effectual. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by C. D. Stevens, Pharmacy corner Main and Milwaukee street.

BENEATH DEATH'S CLOUD.

Death of Miss Edith J. Buck.

Footville, Sept. 21.—Edith J. Buck, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Buck of this village, died of consumption, Wednesday evening, Sept. 15. She had been in ill health for the past five years, but it was not until a year ago that any serious apprehension regarding her recovery was felt. At that time she went to Berlin, Wis., and remained there until March of this year, when she returned to Footville apparently greatly improved. It was soon evident, however, that the change for the better was only apparent, and after remaining here some weeks she went, in the latter part of June, to Mazota, Ill., thinking a change might again be beneficial. This time the hopes of herself and her friends were doomed to disappointment. Instead of improving she rapidly grew worse and it was thought best to remove her to her home. From the day of her return until the day of her death, two months, she suffered severely from the effects of the malady which had taken so firm a hold on her. Everything that loving friends could suggest for her comfort was done, but all unavailing; she failed perceptibly each day to the end. Her long sickness was marked by remarkable patience and fortitude; her contentment of mind furnishing unmistakable proof of the genuineness of her profession of Christianity. In her death the M. E. church and Epworth League lose a faithful and efficient member. This is not the first time the parents have been called upon to follow a child to the grave; the death of twin boys some years ago caused a grief which this more recent death serves but to increase. Three children remain, they being Mrs. U. R. Evans, Arthur and Alta, all of this village. The funeral, which was held on Friday afternoon, from the M. E. church, was very largely attended, and was in charge of the Epworth League. The following young ladies, all school-mates of the deceased, were honorary pall-bearers: Maud Wells, Clara Egerton, Mary Whitmore, Jessie Silverthorn, Flora Richards and Fanny Richards. The active pall-bearers: William O. Howell, Charles H. Whitmore, George Pepper, Adia Ross, Albert J. Henry and Earl Richards. The song service was rendered by the League choir, consisting of Louise Owen, Amy Ross, George Shaw, Levi Ross and Susie Harper, organist. The following resolutions were adopted at a special meeting of Epworth League Chapter No. 8, 482, held September 16:

RESOLVED, That we extend our heartfelt and sincere sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters in their sad affliction. And be it further

RESOLVED, That we send a copy of these resolutions to the family and another for publication in The Janesville Gazette; also that a copy be filed with the secretary of this chapter and become a part of the records of the society.

Card of Thanks.

With feelings of intense gratitude we acknowledge the unvarying kindness and sympathy manifested by our many friends during the prolonged illness of our daughter, Edith. Their numerous acts of thoughtful care and affection can never be forgotten. More especially to the members of the Epworth League, in providing watchers, etc., to minister at the couch of our loved sister, is our heartfelt thanks due. Words are wholly inadequate to express our deep debt to each and all. May the All-Father reward them a thousand fold.

Challis as a fabric For Autumn Wear.

When fall comes, there are few who do not count it as an "awkward season" when referring to the matter of dress. At that time it is too cool for muslins and too warm for cloths. It is just at this season that challis comes in for its greatest share of appreciation, and its long hold in the world of fashion is due to the fact that it so thoroughly "fills the bill" for a between season gown. The shops are showing some of the new challis, but not all that they will bring forth in a week or so. But samples of these go to show that there are some new and very pretty effects in the challis that is to come. Some are flowered, others have arabesque designs, such as have been popular in foulards, and still others have varicolored grounds with fine tracery designs. Of these last one combines green, yellow and blue in some vague device in the ground, the colors filtering through an interlacing of fine brown vines.

There is a charming flower patterned challis with blue, pink and yellow chrysanthemums in pale tint on an olive green ground, broken at intervals with satin stripes. Black arabesque printed on a reseda satin striped challis, with broken white dots, is new and artistic. There is navy challis, as it seems there has always been, but this is smarter than it once was. It has white scrolls and other oriental looking figures instead of just solely and simply white lines or little dots. Black grounds, with cerise or other bright, conventionally patterned designs are newer than the flowered black and blues and have considerably more style about them.

It is a past vogue to trim challis elaborately. The leading dressmakers have among their models for early fall gowns only simple designs for challis. Satin and velvet ribbon is put on in rows and in bows. Some lace is used about them, but this is only of the very heavy kinds—Philadelphia Times

SUFFERING ROCK COUNTY FARMER

The Rock county farmer as well as every other farmer in this "McKinley-riden land," is certainly having his inings at prosperity. In fact, he comes in this time ahead of every other class of business. Inasmuch as the farm is the basis of nine-tenths of production and a considerable percentage of consumption, it is not hard to figure to a nicety that good times are likely to strike ordinary mortals who live by making and selling things to the farmer, and by carrying produce from and supplies to him.

Even Mr. Bryan's disciples in this part of a land that is just now overflowing with milk and honey lack words and imagination to controvert the fact that the tiller of the soil is making a handsome living, where he was so down trodden a year ago that "a 50 cent dollar" was the only thing at all likely to save him from bankruptcy.

Figures at which holders can sell are no myth. Yesterday's Chicago markets fairly clicheed—not through the impetus of any manipulation—but simply because there were more buyers than sellers.

Here are a few facts.

Yesterday butter advanced 3 cents.

Yesterday October pork advanced 5 cents.

Yesterday October ribs advanced 5 cents.

Yesterday December wheat advanced 1 1/2 cents.

Yesterday December corn advanced 3/4 of a cent.

But this by no means tells the story. A year ago when the silver men were trying to "save the country" farm produce was selling so low that nothing short of an honest government could restore them.

Again figures do not lie. Here are a few which can hardly afford comfort to any but lovers of honesty and a 100 cent dollar:

	Now	Yr ago	Advance
Wheat.....	97 1/2	62 1/2	35%
Corn.....	30 1/2	21 1/2	9
Oats.....	20 1/2	16 1/2	25%

And other things in proportion. All this before McKinley has had time to do more than oil the bearings of the commercial world.

Twelve of the leading agricultural and dairy products have within a year increased in price from 5 to 130 per cent, the average being about 35 per cent. During the same period the price of silver has decreased about 21 per cent. Where are the demagogues who were last year telling the farmers that the price of their products depended upon the price of silver.

President McKinley is no longer the "advance agent of prosperity" because, having arrived and taken possession of the country, prosperity no longer needs an advance agent.

"Yellow Jack" presumed upon the warm welcome given to General Prosperity to make us a visit but his reception has been such that he will not remain long.

Senator Gorman says that he isn't ready yet to talk about his retirement. But he will be when the Maryland votes are counted.

At this distance, it looks as though the republicans of New York City were being overdone with fool politics.

President McKinley must have found it real restful to get back to Washington again, even for a few days.

Senator Gorman isn't likely to be called on to decline a reelection. Declining to be a candidate will be to the point.

HE WILL WINTER IN ALASKA

Lieut. Col. George M. Randall Sent to the Land of Gold

Lieutenant Colonel George M. Randall will winter in Alaska. He will command the small post to be established at St. Michael's and his instructions are very simple. Secretary Alger tells him to make his way to that place with dispatch and establish a post temporarily. He will preserve life and property to the best of his ability, endeavoring to do so without exercising force if that is possible. It is expected that the little command will arrive at St. Michael's about Oct. 5.

BENEATH DEATH'S CLOUD

Funeral of Norma Lord

The funeral of Miss Norma Lord was held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Stenson, 6 Liberty street at 10 o'clock this morning. Rev. A. J. Harrington officiated and the pall bearers were members of the Christ Church Sunday School—Joseph Vankirk, Mark Boswick, Frank Nelson and Lyman Pritchard. The interment was in the town of Jamesville cemetery.

Earthquake Shocks in Peru.

Lima, Peru, Sept. 21.—There were strong earthquake shocks here at 11:30 Monday morning. Great alarm was caused among the inhabitants, the majority of whom rushed out into the streets. Many ceilings fell and walls cracked during the subterranean disturbance.

Death of Maximo Lepino.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 21.—A Luck Lake (N. W. T.) special says: Maximo Lepino, one of the most noted men among the Metis of Manitoba and the northwest, died suddenly at his home here Saturday. The cause of his death was ulceration of the stomach. The deceased was widely known as one of Louis Riel's noted councilors during the rebellion of 1885.

One of the Klondike Heroes.

One of the most fortunate of the Klondike kings is Clarence J. Berry. Three years ago he was a poor farmer in Fresno, Cal. When he heard of gold in Alaska, he quit farming and started north. The first winter he passed in the gold region was a hard one. He had to borrow money to buy his outfit in Juneau. The next spring Clarence went back to California and married Miss

CLARENCE BERRY AND HIS PILE.

Ethel Bush of Selma. From that time on the tide of fortune turned in his favor. He picked out what is probably the best claim on the Klondike. When he and his wife reached Seattle, not long ago, they brought with them $134,000 in gold dust and nuggets, and Berry has interests in five paying claims.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

NO SLEEP FOR THREE MONTHS

One Cause of Sleeplessness That Can Be Readily Overcome

Mr. Wm. Handschu of 56th St., Cottonville, Pa., expresses himself as follows regarding the new remedy for that common and obstinate disease, piles: "I take pleasure in stating that I was so afflicted with the piles that for three months I got no regular sleep. I became completely prostrated the doctors did me no good; my brother told me of the new remedy for piles, the Pyramid Pile Cure; I purchased from my druggist three 50-cent bottles and they completely cured me. I am once more at my work and but for this excellent medicine I should be on my back. I take great pleasure in writing sufferers from this trouble, who like myself did not know where to look for a permanent, reliable, safe cure."

Experience with the Pyramid Pile Cure in the past three years has demonstrated to the medical profession, as well as to thousands of sufferers from piles, that it is the safest and most effective cure ever offered to the public, containing no opiates or poison of any kind, painless and convenient to handle and being sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1 per box, is within the reach of every sufferer.

Very frequently two or three boxes have made a complete cure of chronic cases that had not yielded to other remedies for years.

There is scarcely a disease more aggravating and obstinate to cure than the various forms of piles and it is a common practice to use ointments, salves and similar preparations containing dangerous poisons to remove the trouble. The Pyramid has superseded all of these ineffectual remedies and no one suffering with any rectal trouble, make any mistake in giving the Pyramid a trial.

If in doubt as to the nature of your trouble send to the Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Michigan, for a valuable little book on piles, describing all forms of the disease and describing the method of cure.

Any druggist can furnish the Pyramid Pile Cure as it is the best known and most popular remedy for piles and if you ask him he can doubtless refer you to many people in your vicinity who have been cured completely by it.

BAD STREETS DEAR THE CITY FINDS

TWO NEW DAMAGE SUIT NOTICES FILED.

John Rossi and Wife Ask Pay For Injuries Sustained On North Main Street—Mayor Favors Uniform Charter Provisions on Street Making—Council Notes.

The council had plenty of reminders about bad sidewalks last evening. Notice was read by the clerk that Mrs. Lucia Rossi sued for damages on account of a fall sustained by her on the sidewalk in front of H. M. Shor's North Main street saloon Sept. 6. Notice of suit by John Rossi for loss of his wife's services was also read. The notices declared that Mrs. Rossi caught her foot in a five-inch hole in the asphalt walk and thrown violently. E. D. McGowan appeared as attorney for the plaintiffs. The cases were referred to the judiciary committee as was the claim of H. E. Langworthy.

Money Wasted on Repairs.

After these notices had been read, Mayor Thoroughgood presented a message urging closer attention to the highways of the city, and the adoption of a portion of the uniform charter. He pointed out that under the present policy of continually "repairing," we annually lay out large sums upon the streets, and that they are practically now no better than they were twenty years ago. At present a recommendation must be signed by a majority of resident property owners, or else a committee must be appointed to examine and condemn the street, before anything like permanent work can be done upon it; and in either event the property owners must bear the entire burden of the expense of improvement.

Favors Uniform Charter Act.

"Under the provisions of what is called the uniform charter act," continued the mayor, "the common council is clothed with the power of going ahead and making permanent streets without the petition or recommendation of property owners and of determining what part of the expense shall be borne by the public and what part, if any, by the property owner and it seems to me that if we are to find a way out of our present position, (at least) of the provision of that act. The council will then be able to do much work as it may deem necessary and to adjust the expense equitably between the lot owner and the general public."

Two Committees Named.

Alderman Milmore presented a resolution that the mayor appoint a committee of five aldermen and the city attorney, and a citizens' committee to examine the advisability of adopting any part of the uniform charter relating to city improvements, and report to the council.

The council committee appointed was Aldermen Milmore, McLean, Field, Burnham and Gilkey. The citizens' committee consists of John W. Sale, C. S. Jackman and Geo. G. Sutherland.

Petition "Placed On File."

The Good Templars petition signed by several hundred citizens asking that the council enforce the saloon closing ordinance and also regulate questionable houses was read. Mayor Thoroughgood said:

"I will say it is the duty of the police to put a stop to these things if they exist, and I will say further if there is any man on this list who will come to me or the police and father their statement concerning these violations, I will see they appear before the court and Judge Phelps will do the rest. If they don't come to me prepared to father their statements by their willingness to testify, I want them to keep away. I acknowledge this kindly petition and dispose of it by placing same on file."

General City Business

On motion of Alderman Burnham it was decided that the chairman of the light committee and the city engineer purchase a set of instruments with which to test electric lights.

Alderman Milmore's order to amend the ordinance relating to the stringing of wires was referred to the highway committee.

A communication from Morris Stack relating to over assessments was referred to the finance committee.

A saloon license was granted to George Watts.

The application of S. E. Phillips to erect a small frame shed in rear of business blocks on South Franklin street was referred to the fire and water committee.

Money For Crushed Stone.

On motion of Alderman Burnham the city treasurer was ordered to transfer from the several ward funds to the general fund the following amounts for crushed stone used by the several wards for the year 1896 and charged to the general fund: First ward, $275.80; Second, $34.30; Third $104.95; Fourth, $224.70; Fifth, $48.30.

His wife, who is represented by Fethers, Jeffries, Field & Moust, charges him with desertion.

ODD FELLOW SUITS COME INTO COURT

NINETY MEN READY TO FIGHT THE CASE.

Justice Richardson's Court Crowded—Judgment Given Against a Dozen or More Who Fail to Appear and Assignee Fulton Gives Bonis For Costs.

Ninety deeply interested Odd Fellows filled Justice M. P. Richardson's office this morning. They were all defendants in cases brought by John U. Fulton, assignee of the Wisconsin Mutual Life Insurance company. At 10 o'clock the first case was called, and Dunwiddie & Wheeler appeared in the interest of the plaintiff, while Sutherland & Nolan represented the defendants.

Attorney Nolan addressed the court pleading payment and general denial. He said that the defendants had decided to take the case into the courts, claiming that the assessments were illegal.

Judgment was taken against a dozen of the defendants who failed to put in an appearance. Justice Richardson had the assignee file security of costs in each case and by consent of both parties the case was adjourned till Monday, Sept. 27, at 10 o'clock.

The ninety or more cases to be tried will be taken up separately and in alphabetical order, the first case on the docket being that of Assignee John U. Fulton vs. Adam Apfel. A jury of six will try each case.

When the case is taken up next Monday the Milwaukee law firm of Quarles, Spence & Quarles will appear for the plaintiff and a bitter fight is looked for on both sides.

Assignee John U. Fulton who spent the day in town claims to be satisfied that he will carry his point when the proper time comes.

B. H. Baldwin of this city, who for a number of years acted as local agent for the company, declares that as agent he was always given to understand that if a member failed to pay assessments his membership was forfeited. This was supposed to exempt him from all further liability.

HAY TOOL COMPANY ELECTION

Frank B. Strickler Devotes Part of Time to Laundry.

At the annual meeting of the Janesville Hay Tool Company these officers were elected:

President—W. T. Vankirk.

Secretary and Treasurer—A. H. Stedron.

Frank B. Strickler continues as superintendent and manager but will devote considerable of his time to the Janesville Steam Laundry, of which he is part owner. Eugene Noyes will remain as bookkeeper and cashier.

The business of the company will continue along the same lines as last year but the office will probably be moved down town.

STREETS CLEANED NIGHTS

Commissioner Palmer Finds the Plan Economical and Effective.

Paved streets throughout the city are now cleaned by the glare of the electric light. Street Commissioner Palmer has a new plan in working order that does away with the once-a-week street gang. Three men now work every night in the week, with the exception of Saturday night, with brooms and shovels cleaning the paved sections of Main, Milwaukee and River streets. This plan is a much cheaper one and keeps the streets in better order. Different men are assigned to the job each week so as to divide the work.

ALL SIGNS FAVOR THE $500 LICENSE

LIGHT VOTE POLLED AT SPECIAL ELECTION.

Many Declare Themselves to Election Officers And It Is Believed That the License Figure Will Not Be Changed For Another Three Year Term.

All the surface indications are that $500 license will carry. A large proportion of the voters this morning declared themselves for the $500 ticket and there was no evidence of any organized effort by the low license advocates.

In every ward in town a light vote was cast. There were 852 votes cast up to 3 o'clock, divided among the several precincts as follows:

WON THEIR SUIT IN DURAND

Bassett & Echlin Came Out Ahead in the Norton Matter.

Bassett & Echlin came out ahead, in their suit against Faulkner, Norton, Knight and Fenlon, at Durand. The Durand Clipper, in reviewing the case says:

The Janesville firm had sold goods to P. W. Fenlon, which were shipped June 11. After the bank failure P. W. Fenlon sold these goods to E. B. Norton, and when this became known to the Janesville firm, they got out an attachment for all the goods they could find which they had shipped to Fenlon.

When the case came to trial the first witness examined was F. B. Echlin who testified as to the selling and shipping of the goods. He stated that the goods were shipped to Fenlon on the strength of Bradstreet's report Fenlon was worth $6,500 clear of all debts.

R. G. Hollister was put on the stand who presented the report of R. G. Dunn & Co. as to P. W. Fenlon's financial standing. Ferguson objected to the report but the court overruled the objection and the report was put in evidence.

While the attorneys were arguing on this point, Mr. Welch said that he knew there was honor enough in the people of Durand to see that this rotten deal was exposed.

Geo. Barker and E. H. Parker were the next witnesses. Their testimony showed that P. W. Fenlon was indebted to them as the time he made the financial statement to R. G. Dunn & Co. This closed the case for the plaintiffs. The defense had no testimony to offer but would appeal to the circuit court. Judgment and costs were rendered for the plaintiff.

DROVE BACK.

BY

CONTINUED.

And I gives my bosom a thump. "Was this 'ere arm your William's?"

"Yes," she shrieks, "that was his crucifix."

"Was this 'ere face your William's?" says I, slapping my forehead, and I shoves it into her'n and sings out: "Look again. Look to God's light. Look, if your durned perishing William ever had such a face upon him as mine in all his goin' a-fishin'."

There was a crowd by this time, and, noticing it, I steps into the passage, picks up my clothes and goes up stairs. After this I shifted my shanty. There was nothing to be lost, I allowed, by a change of address, as they call it. By this time all notion of getting a job out of the largest circulation was clean gone. I hired a room in Smith street, Steppney. The house was kept by Mrs. Gumble, widow of a coasting skipper. When I paid Mrs. Bloomer, she took my money scornfully, and I think would have spoke, but my eye kept her quiet. My pulling off my coat, too, and hauling of the lying party on to the pavement had done Mrs. Bloomer good.

I still carried some pounds in good money in my pocket, but guessed if I didn't fall in with a situation soon the old leather purse 'ud be showing like the end of a long voyage. I answered advertisements and hunted about. It was all no good—nobody wanted me. What was expected was always exactly what I hadn't got. Then they wanted written characters, and I had nothing but "V. G." certificates to show 'em. I told Mrs. Gumble I wanted to give up the sea and settle ashore, and she answered that in her heart she couldn't blame me. She advised me to put in a little notice. I told her I'd done so.

Says she: "Though once might be of no use, twice might work the traverse. Try another paper."

After considering the thing and understanding it might find me a chance if it did no more I walked round to another newspaper with the same piece that had appeared in the corner of the largest circulation, only instead of signing my name William Pooley to it I took the name of William Treakell, my mother's name after her marriage, partly because I reckoned that as William Pooley I'd had all the innings I was going to get, while Treakell was like starting on a fresh voyage, and partly because I didn't want my name to meet the eye of the lying party.

And now I'm a-going to tell you what, I dare say, you'll not believe, but if it ain't true then my eyes aren't twins. Two days after the piece had appeared I returned to Steppney from a cruise to Regent street. When I walks in, Mrs. Gumble called out from her back room, "Is that you, Mr. Pooley?"

"Pooley it is," says I, stopping at the foot of the steps.

She comes out, and, looking hard at me, says, "There's been a party, with a boy, inquiring arter you."

"Female party?" says I.

"Yes," she says.

"What does she want?"

"She says that her husband left her when her child was 6 months old. He was a seafaring man. His name was Pooley," says she, looking at me very hard. "He didn't always used to sign on under that name, and sometimes shipped himself as William Treakell." I breathed short. "It was her mother's maiden name," said Mrs. Gumble.

"What brought her to this house?" says I, talking as if I'd just had a tooth drawn.

"She's always on the lookout for her husband and reads the advertisements in the papers. She saw the name of Treakell and says you're her man. She described you," says Mrs. Gumble, beginning to talk with a sort of snarl (there's a durned sight too much of fellow feeling among people of Mrs. Gumble's sort). "She gave me your likeness in words as though she talked with your picture in her 'and. She says you lodged at Mrs. Bloomer's, down out of the Commercial road, and left that house because she discovered you."

"Well?" says I.

"Well," says she, "she'll be here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and hopes it'll be convenient to you to see her."

"It'll be convenient for me to see her in"—but I stopped myself. The blooming joke was past beyond all cusses. "How in flames did she know," says I, "that I called myself Treakell?"

"She asked if the Treakell as lodged here answered to the description she gave of you. 'No Treakell lodged here,' says I, 'but I've a party stopping in the house as is the same as you describe.' 'Then his name's Pooley,' says she. 'Pooley it is,' says I, the surprise making me answer quick. Then she tells me you married 'her at Deal and deserted her when your infant babe was 6 months old."

"I'll not see the hedgehog," I burst out. "She's ten sun o' lie from hat to heel. Don't let me be troubled by her. She's no wife of mine."

"You won't see her, d'you say?"

"Look here. Is there any letter for me?"

"Nary letter. You won't see her, d'you say?"

"Nary letter?" I says. "It cost me 4 bob, and who the blooming blazes is a-going to see it where they've gone and stuck it, right amidst ships of a whole smother of like notices? If they takes yer money, why don't they find yer in answers? Damn me if it ain't worse than picking your pocket to entice a man into spending 4 bob and never a one withered reply in two days!"

"So you won't see her, then?" says Mrs. Gumble, lifting of her eyebrows and sourly spreading of her lips till I saw the red of her false teeth at the back of her jaw.

I just wished deep down in me that she'd been Gumble instead of his wider and passed up stairs.

I went to a coffee house for breakfast early next morning and was messing about all day looking after a job, but could get nothing to do, not even down at the docks, though I remember thinking, when it came to my turning my eye in that direction, that if I was to knock about ships for a living I'd better go to sea for good. There was no country fancies in the isle of Dogs, no smell of the haystack, no scent of the milk-maid in the breezes there. I went back home to my lodgings in the evening, wore out. Mrs. Gumble told me that the party had called at 10 o'clock along with the boy, but I wouldn't hear tell of her and went straight to my bedroom and lay down on my bed to smoke a pipe and to consider whether this sort of seeking for a job wasn't like asking the way to the work'us.

I lay late next morning, being, as I have said, wore out. 'Sides, what was there to get up for? Of course it would be the old joke over again, ways of refusing of a man that was the same as punching his head, loafing about all day long, coming home and no letters and wondering if drowning was as quick as hanging.

I was getting out of bed at noon, when comes a knock upon the door, and Mrs. Gumble's voice says, "You're wanted."

"Who wants me?" says I.

"An officer of the court," she answers.

I opened the door to her, and, putting my head out, says, "What court?"

"The police court," says she.

"What does he want?"

"You come down and he'll tell you."

I dressed and went down stairs, Mrs. Gumble, hearing my footsteps, beckons certificates?" cried the woman. "Aren't sailors every day a-forging of these here V. G.'s?"

"Put 'em up," says the officer to me. "I can't help you, missis," says he, taking up his hat.

Just one hour later I met an old shipmate on the steps of the shipping yard at Tower hill.

"What are you doing here, Bill?" says he.

"Looking for a ship," says I.

"I heard that you'd squared yards with the sea and was ashore for a settlement."

"And a settlement it's been," says I, and just then, some one singing out for hands for a China clipper, I steps in, scarce smiling as I thought of that night when I brought my fist down on the fok'sle rail of the Empire.

THE END.

FALL STYLES.

Black Velvet Ribbon Bordered With Narrow Valenciennes—Other Trimmings.

White, which has been in immense favor all summer, promises to last into the fall, and there are to be costumes of white woolen and cloth, embellished with bands of black velvet ribbon, wide or narrow. With these striking gowns will be worn hats of white felt, trimmed with white or black plumes, or hats entirely black.

The rising tendency toward flat trimmings is bringing ribbon of all sorts well to the front, both velvet and satin ribbons being largely employed as a decoration, as well as galloon and more elaborate bands. Black velvet bordered with very narrow valenciennes, is a new idea, and other little edgings are also used with good effect, gold cords, very narrow metal or jet passementerie enriching the simple ribbon arrangement wonderfully.

Among the materials provided for autumn wear are cloth, chevrons and mixed wools, checks of various descriptions, in which blue, green, gray, white, brown, red and blue may be found, and rough goods of the hairy and boucle variety, having a mixed ground, on which are geometrical designs and zigzags in solid color. Plaids will be somewhat worn, but not profusely so, especially in the form of whole gowns. When an entire costume is made of plaid, it is usually trimmed with plain goods, sometimes all the same color that prevails in the plaid, sometimes white. Jackets and capes of cloth are also decorated with collars and revers different from the main goods and most often of a decidedly contrasting color.

The illustration given today shows a hat of golden brown straw, trimmed with puffings of black mousseline de soie and black velvet. A large cluster of roses and leaves stands up on the left side.

He has not been prominent in politics, but has been on terms of friendship with President McKinley for a long time. Our new Russian minister has the best of Revolutionary blood in his veins, as he is a descendant of the heroic Ethan Allen who captured Fort Ticonderoga.

Bolero and Zouave Effects.

Bolero and zouave effects have lost none of their popularity and will blossom out in new and odd surprises as the season advances. Many of them are designed for warmth, while the majority are made as an artistic decoration for the fancy bodice where several materials are combined. Jeweled, tinselled and all over braided effects will be much used in these dainty additions, which are affected alike by both old and young and claim a place in the foremost ranks of good style—Woman's Home Companion.

The newest bustles to be worn with fall gowns have the hip pieces cut and padded to fit the figure. These will be worn underneath the corset instead of outside, as formerly, and there will be new corsets with adjustable hip pieces. These bustles will keep the skirt from sagging.

Materials and Style of Making For Winter Wear.

Morning jackets are trimmed with lace and knots of ribbon and have soft, loose sleeves. These jackets may be close bodied and straight in front or may be belted in all around with a short, full basque hanging below the belt.

Dressing gowns often have a yoke at the back and front, but sometimes they are fitted to the figure at the back and left loose in front only. Lamb's wool, anel and cashmere are the materials employed for winter wear. The latter two are preferable to the first because they can be washed. A white flannel dressing gown is very pretty. Buttons and hooks are of an omitted altogether, the garment being simply folded across in front and held in place by a heavy cord around the waist. The sleeves are loose and large, and the decoration, if there is any, is simple.

French flannels make very pretty wrappers, and stripes and plaids seem just now to have the preference. Cashmere lined with wadded silk and trimmed with fur feather bands makes a luxurious wrapper for cold weather wear. The style in high wrappers are made varies greatly according to the sort of material used and the person for whom the gown is intended. The wattleau plait is always a favorite and is held in at the waist for stout women, while for slender ones it is left entirely loose. The front of the wrapper is seldom close fitting, the adjustment being confined to the back and sides. There is usually a slight train, and the sleeves are long and somewhat wide. The full front is sometimes held in at the waist by a girle and sometimes allowed to fall straight, while the neck is finished with a plain or draped collar, a ruche or some flaring arrangement.

WINTER FASHIONS.

Feather Boas, Tailor Made Gowns, New Skirts, Etc.

Feather boas in pale gray are now the height of fashion. They are made of ostrich feathers, down or curled coq plumes and are very becoming to women who have a fresh color. Ostrich plumes are to be much in evidence this season for trimming as well as for millinery. A new model of an opera wrap is of pink silk and has a sort of pelerine trimming around the shoulders formed of white ostrich plumes, arranged with the stems upward and separated from each other by platings of pink gauze.

Cheviots, serges, diagonals and thin cloths are much employed for gowns for general service. Dark tones are preferred, blues and greens having the preference, with black. Black tulle is much liked.

Tailor made gowns are enjoying their usual success. For fall and winter blouses bodices having a slight basque are seen. Gowns thus made are often accompanied by a belted jacket, which is double breasted and fastened with large buttons and has a tailor collar and wide revers. The sleeves are very moderate in size. These jackets are of cloth and are worn in all shades, hussar blue and red being favorite colors. Another style of jacket has a straight front, but is drawn in to the waist at the back under a strap. These are made of plaid and have revers, collar and pointed capuchin of plain material.

The picture shows a costume of willow green woollen goods. The skirt has a sort of yoke composed of five horizontal tucks. The blouse bodice, which fastens at the left side, is also trimmed with horizontal tucks just above the waist and also between the shoulders at the back. It has large revers and a valois collar of black satin, and the revers are edged with a narrow plaiting. The sleeves are slightly bouffant at the top and have tucked epaulets, edged with a narrow plaiting. The black satin belt is tied at the side with long ends.

The Furniture of Living Rooms—Novelties in Stationery, Etc.

Rooms having a northern exposure, which are always gloomy, and rooms furnished in dark, dull colors may be made brighter, lighter and more cheerful by using yellow silk for the curtains. Sash curtains of thin yellow liberty silk and long curtains of some heavier yellow material will improve the general aspect of such a room very much.

Articles of wood and willow furniture are now frequently seen stained a soft, artistic green. These used to be very expensive and were only to be obtained at shops that made a specialty of novelties in that line. They are becoming less costly, however, and are sometimes to be found at the establishment of an ordinary dealer. They are very pretty and offer a pleasing relief from the ubiquitous antique oak.

The bolero has not yet been abandoned, but is less generally worn than it was. It is now made in one piece, with no seam behind or under the arm and no darts. It is very short and clings close to the figure, fastening in front or at the side under a ruffle or plaiting, or it is partly open and has revers of one shape or another.

The illustration given today shows a hat of green silk felt. It has a square topped crown and a broad, curling brim. A heavy green ostrich plume lies along the brim on each side, drooping over the edge. In front is an aigret of finely plaited Nile green satin, which is held in place by an ornament of paste and pearls. With this hat is worn a boa of pale gray ostrich plumage.

DIABETES

is a disease which if allowed to fasten its hold upon the victim will surely land him in a premature grave. It is caused by inactive kidneys. Weak or inactive kidneys and all symptoms of Diabetes can be

CURED

It is pretty tough on a man who has to work hard for a living to be a constant sufferer from weak kidneys and backache as I have for many years past. Being laid up at home so often with my aches and pains, I have lost a good many days, besides paying lots of doctors' bills. The doctors called my trouble diabetes. It is a source of pleasure to me to say now, after using a few boxes of your Sparagus Kidney Pills, that they knocked a lot of those old pains out of me. I can now work hard all day at my trade without feeling the least bit tuckered out. In fact, I think I am about as healthy as a baby now, and must thank you for it. I am your friend, G. W.
